

Air Reservists In Area To Get ICBM Briefing

More than 50 South Bay Air Reservists will hear comprehensive statistics on the nation's top offensive ICBM missiles at 7:30 this evening, at Lakewood High School, according to Lt. Col. Oscar O. Grab, commander of the South Bay's 9450th Air Reserve Squadron.

Atlas project officer Maj. Lawrence B. Walker from USAF's Ballistic Missiles Division, Air Research and Development Command, will give a general report on the Minuteman, Atlas, Titan and Thor missiles.

DESIGNED TO inform reservists and civilian officials on this country's "big punch" weapons, Maj. Walker will cover the planning, development, production and operational stages of the missiles.

Much of the information was formerly classified. Space vehicles, their planning, development and current production problems, will be reviewed by Lt. Col. Robert L. Beers, deputy director of programming for BMD.

CIVILIAN officials from the following communities have been invited to attend: Torrance, Palos Verdes Estates, San Pedro, Manhattan, Hermosa and Redondo beaches, El Segundo, Wilmington, Gardena, South Gate, Lynwood, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Whittier, Compton, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton.

More than 500 reservists from these communities will attend the briefing.

DOING THE CHARLESTON . . . A "Spring Fiesta" at Seaside Elementary School, recently produced a variety of dances from all ages of American history, climaxing with the Charleston presented here by seventh and eighth graders. Other parts of the program included traditional American songs, Indian dances, and square dances.
